TERROIR

This wine is from the three terroirs of the appellation: Rounded pebbles, Lauzes and Chalky Clay Soils.

WINEMAKING

Vinification is similar to that of a red wine as a result of long maceration times. After pressing, fermentation for 10 to 15 days at a low temperature (13°-14°C). A blend of free-run juice that provides the necessary aromas, fruit, freshness and acidity, and press juice that preserves its richness, structure and potency. This clever blend gives birth to this stylish wine, 1st Rosé of France.
